Prospects for UK Agriculture

THE ANDERSONS
CENTRE

ANDERSONS SEMINARS

WHAT ARE THEY?

The Andersons Spring Seminars provide an overview of the entire farming industry and its prospects – covering policy changes, new legislation, economic outlook, market prospects and profitability. They look at the implications for the future structure of farming and farm businesses, and those that service them.

Now in their 23rd year, and with UK agriculture facing its most significant change in decades, the Seminars are a must-attend event for food, farming and agri-business.

They are relevant to all professionals, companies and organisations working in agriculture.

WHY SHOULD YOU ATTEND?

You will come away with a deeper understanding of the current issues facing the UK farming sector, including opportunities and threats, allowing you to understand the needs of your clients and customers better.

By looking at the future prospects for the industry as a whole the Seminars will prompt you to think about the direction of your own organisation.

Delegates also appreciate the opportunity to meet a wide cross-section of the agricultural industry in an informal setting and to exchange ideas and views.

WHAT DO YOU GET?

The agenda opposite sets out the proposed programme for the events. All delegates to the Seminars receive a comprehensive booklet with a full-colour copy of the presentation plus detailed notes.

The Seminars will provide 3 hours of CPD.

WHAT DO PEOPLE SAY?

Last year over 700 delegates attended these events and 99.3% rated them as either good or excellent.
